International Student Applications on the Rise: Study Show That the Easier the Application Process the Higher the Enrollments

Fort Lauderdale, FL, USA – December 1, 2023 – In a remarkable trend observed over the past four years, international student applications to colleges and universities have consistently increased.

A recent informal survey of international students applying to U.S. colleges revealed that the ease of the admission process and financial aid are key factors influencing their choice of institution. This contrasts with domestic students, who prioritize college reputation, cost, and social connections.

CCI, the Foreign Credential Evaluation Specialists, led by Sheila Danzig, has been at the forefront of facilitating this growth. CCI provides U.S. education equivalency for non-U.S. education, crucial for international students to enroll in American programs. Recognizing the challenges faced by international applicants, CCI offers texting support 24/7, ensuring a seamless and supportive enrollment process.

CCI also does not require translations for document evaluations when the education documents are in Spanish, French, Portuguese, or German. This saves students both money and time.

CCI provides Rush service free to students referred by the school they are applying to.

All of these features mean that students move along quickly and are more likely to enroll.
